What Makes Our Training Stand Out

Our approach to NLP training is truly unique, distinguished by three-decades of extensive real-world business leadership experience of our trainer, Paul O'Neill, whom has been a Licensed Master Practitioner of NLP for over twenty years. Unlike almost all NLP trainers, Paul has held senior executive and business leadership roles across a broad spectrum of industries, managing billion-dollar operations and leading large-scale change programs internationally.

Paul brings a wealth of hands-on experience in implementing transformational change with advance applications of NLP, many of which were developed in the field dealing with unique organisational and commercial challenges. He has coached top executives whom have gone on to become high-flyers, driving operational excellence in some of the world's leading companies.

Paul's extensive practical knowledge allows us to provide NLP for Business training, which is not only grounded in core elements of NLP as they are uniquely taught by Dr. Richard Bandler, this program is deeply rooted in the realities of large-scale industrial and commercial business operations, nonprofit organisations and state-owned enterprises.
